SafeTrack

Get The Latest Surge Updates

Where We Are

Metro is near the halfway mark in the SafeTrack program, having completed eight SafeTrack Surges during the summer months. As the program moves forward, we've made some adjustments to the schedule to address new safety recommendations, incorporate work on the track interlockings, and account for the impact of record heat this summer. The dates for work through the end of the year, as well as a schedule for work into early 2017, have now been released. Find out more about the revised SafeTrack schedule in the chart below.

metroAlerts — For real-time updates, sign up for MetroAlerts at wmata.com/metroalerts

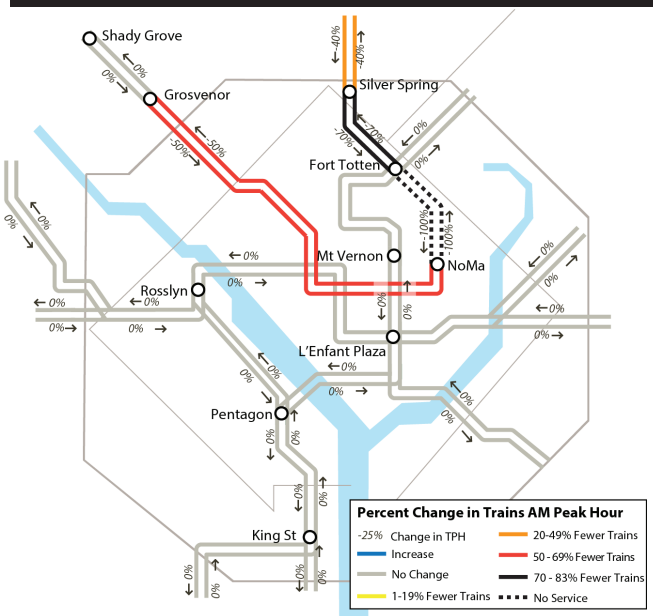
Project Details

- SafeTrack Surges impact all riders, including rush hour commuters, on the affected lines.
- Riders are strongly urged to consider alternate travel options during Surges that affect their lines.
- In addition to the Surges, increased track work throughout the Metrorail system is being conducted on nights and weekends, and during some rush hours.
- During SafeTrack, Metrorail will continue to close at midnight, 7 days a week. Last train times vary, so check wmata.com/stations for information.

Surge	Date	Lines Affected	Stations Affected	Type of Surge
9	9/15 – 10/26	OR	Vienna to West Falls Church	Single tracking; weekend line segment shutdown
10	10/29 – 11/22	RD	Fort Totten to NoMa-Gallaudet U	Line Segment Shutdown
11	11/28 – 12/29	OR SV	East Falls Church to West Falls Church	Continuous Single Track
12	Early January	YL BL	Braddock Rd to Huntington/Van Dorn St	Continuous single tracking; weekend line segment shutdown
13	Late January/Early February	BL	Rosslyn to Pentagon	Line Segment Shutdown
14	March	YL BL	Braddock Rd to Huntington/Van Dorn St	Continuous single tracking; weekend line segment shutdown
15	Late March/April	GR YL	Greenbelt to College Park	Continuous single tracking; weekend line segment shutdown

Note: No SafeTrack work will be conducted during the Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's holidays, and Inauguration Week, providing a break for our riders and workers.

DETAILS ON SURGE 10



October 29 through November 22, 2016

Line shutdown between NoMa-Gallaudet U and Fort Totten

Reduced service at all RD stations. Brookland-CUA and Rhode Island Ave stations closed.

- Red Line trains will run in two segments: Shady Grove to NoMa-Gallaudet U and Glenmont to Fort Totten
- Two stations will be closed: Brookland-CUA and Rhode Island Ave
- Shuttle buses will replace trains between NoMa-Gallaudet U and Fort Totten
- Expect crowding on all trains due to less frequent Red Line service
- Green Line provides alternate path for travel between Fort Totten and Gallery Place
- All Red Line customers should consider alternate travel options and avoid traveling during rush-hour periods if possible; expect trains to be extremely crowded

For more information, visit wmata.com/safetrack or call (202) 637-7000.