TITLE:

3rd Party Indemnification of National Park Service

PRESENTATION SUMMARY:

Information will be presented to seek Board approval to provide indemnification with respect to construction of a chain link fence on National Park Service-administered land in Glover Archbold Park. WMATA owns a trestle bridge in the area that has deteriorated. Board Resolution 2011-30 requires approval to indemnify third parties.

PURPOSE:

Authorize the General Manager/Chief Executive Officer or designee to indemnify the National Park Service in order to obtain access to and install a fence in Glover Archbold Park. A trestle bridge is in a deteriorated condition, and for safety reasons, WMATA plans to install a fence around the base to exclude trespassers.

DESCRIPTION:

WMATA seeks access to Glover Archbold Park, which is administered by the National Park Service. WMATA owns a trestle bridge that has deteriorated. At the request of the National Park Service, WMATA plans to install a fence to deter access to the area beneath the bridge. National Park Service has requested indemnification before allowing access.

Key Highlights:

Staff seeks Board approval to provide indemnify the National Park Service.

Background and History:

WMATA owns the Foundry Branch trestle bridge, which is located in Glover Archbold Park in the District of Columbia. Access to the land beneath the trestle must be approved by the National Park Service, which administers the park.

A recent inspection of the bridge, performed by WMATA engineers, determined that the bridge has deteriorated significantly. To protect members of the public and to deter trespassers from the area under the bridge, WMATA will install a chain link fence.

Discussion:

The bridge has deteriorated significantly. Wood ties have fallen from the bridge. Several steel structural members of the bridge are significantly degraded.

A fence installed around the base of the bridge will deter trespassers and reduce the potential for harm.
