

WASHINGTON METROPOLITAN AREA TRANSIT AUTHORITY
Senior Vice President – Bus Transformation, Better Bus Initiative

The Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (Metro) was created by an interstate compact in 1967 to plan, develop, build, finance, and operate a balanced regional transportation system in the national capital area. Metro began building its rail system in 1969, acquired four regional bus systems in 1973, and began operating the first phase of Metrorail in 1976. Today, Metrorail serves 97 stations and has 128 miles of track. Metrobus serves the nation's capital 24 hours a day, seven days a week with 1,500 buses. Metrorail and Metrobus serve a population of approximately 4 million within a 1,500-square mile jurisdiction. Metro began its paratransit service, MetroAccess, in 1994; it provides about 2.3 million trips per year.

The Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority is seeking an exceptional and dynamic senior leader to join our organization. We are excited about finding an individual that will bring their talents and skills to the WMATA Team in the position of Senior Vice President – Bus Transformation, Better Bus Initiative.

The Senior Vice President – Bus Transformation, Better Bus Initiative role supports the Chief Operating Officer and the Chief Infrastructure Officer to provide strategic management and direction of WMATA's Better Bus Initiative and other bus transformation projects to improve and enhance bus operations and the customer experience. The incumbent will aid with the development of key strategies, gathering input from stakeholders, facilitating the agency's strategic decision-making process, and participating as a member of the senior leadership team in major policy decisions.

The incumbent will work closely with other Senior leaders in Bus Operations and helps oversee, manage, and execute plans, policies, and frameworks for bus projects for an executive unit that may have broad organization-wide impact.
